Northwestern U. To Honor Former Marion Woman

Miss Lucia May Wiant To Observe 50th Anniversary of Graduation.

A half-century after her graduation from Northwestern University, Miss Lucia May Wiant, former resident of Marion, Ohio, is planning to observe the 50th anniversary of her graduation from the university.

Miss Wiant was admitted to Northwestern in 1883, and graduated in 1888. She was the first woman to graduate from the university with a degree in education.

In the year immediately following her graduation, she was employed as a teacher in the public schools of Marion, Ohio.

Miss Wiant has to her credit the honor of originating the first regular course of speech for young children and her collection of "Fairy Tales" which is used daily in the Dayton schools where she now resides in the Gibson hotel.

Two years ago Miss Wiant was cited as the outstanding alumni of Northwestern in Dayton and takes great pride in the possession of a certificate from that school bestowed in recognition of worthy achievement which has reflected credit on Northwestern University.

Early in life, at the age of seven, Miss Wiant says she knew definitely what she desired to do when she grew up. One day, while her mother was sewing and Miss Wiant, seated at her mother's feet, was trying to read aloud from a newspaper, she came to the word "education". Neither could she pronounce the word nor did she know its meaning but when her mother had explained she immediately and enthusiastically replied, "that is just what I want to be."

Miss Wiant believes that she and her three brothers, now deceased, W. J. Wiant, Charles G. Wiant and Dr. Carey T. Wiant, all of Marion, owed more to their parents than any children they knew, and one of the reasons was that they not only allowed them to do the thing they liked but encouraged and helped them in every way.

On Lecture Programs

Miss Wiant went to Dayton in 1892 with the intention of opening a private studio for speech education but before arrangements could be perfected, Mr. W. J. Wiant, then superintendent of schools, persuaded her that she and her work would fit into the public school system.

During her 49 years of school work there, different vacation periods were given to lecture bureau work. Although several times she had the opportunity to travel as reader and lecturer with concert companies she felt happier in remaining in her chosen work.

At Northwestern Miss Wiant will participate tonight in what is termed "illumination night" and on Saturday in the "parade of classes," preceding a luncheon staged on the college campus at which she will be seated with other honor guests.

Miss Wiant has three nephews, Dr. Roy E. Wiant of Detroit, Ben T. Wiant and J. Wendell Wiant, both of Marion.

MINE EQUIPMENT EXEMPT FROM TAX

Marion Industries Affected by New State Ruling.

Several Marion industrial concerns have been affected by a state tax commission ruling exempting from the sales tax all articles and equipment purchased by mine operators for use in mining.

Fluorid Corroly, county sales tax examiner, said today.

He pointed out that had the $500,000 order for ship mining equipment received by the Marion Steam Shovel Co. this week been taxed, the state would have collected $15,000 under the three per cent sales tax.

This sale, however, would not have been taxable because it was sold outside of the state. In the future, Corroly said, all such sales within the state will be exempt from the tax. The ruling also exempts sales to quarry operators.

Toledo Man Will Address Eagles on Anniversary.

Arrangements for the meeting, which will include the initiation of a class of candidates, were made at a meeting last night. Five applications were balloted on.

School Heads Say State Program of Little Help

Foundation Plan Will Not Solve Problems in City and County, Superintendents Declare.

Foundation program, which was approved by the state legislature last week, will not solve the problems of the city and county school systems, the superintendents declared today.

The foundation program guarantees school districts cooperating with the state department of education $47.50 a year for each high school pupil and $40 a year for each elementary pupil. In the city schools, this will average about $51 a pupil for the school as a whole, and the county figure is believed to be about the same.

Comptroller Figures.

After studying these figures, Supt. Hudson compared the $51 with the cost of operating the schools during the 1933-34 term of eight and one-half months. The cost for each pupil that term was $11.57, he said. To operate a full month term on the same basis would require, he said, adding that many curtailments were made in the 1933-34 term that could not be continued. He pointed out that teachers took heavy salary reductions still in effect, and that maintenance of the buildings and other necessary work went on.

"Marion ought to have at least $50 a pupil to operate a nine-month term," he said. "The 1933-34 term was $72 a pupil and Marion never was a high-cost school city."

It is important, that people realize the school foundation program is one of bare necessities and by no means a model or desirable basis. It was adopted with the understanding that districts that could afford a better program would make additional provision for the schools.

Supt. Mills said that although he does not have detailed figures in his office for each of the county's 14 rural school districts, he is virtually certain the foundation program will not improve the financial position of the county's schools.

See Leases Needed

In view of one provision of the foundation program requiring school districts to furnish a certain amount of local funds to supplement the "foundation" money to be furnished by the state, some districts in which a village is located may be required to vote special bonds or levies to furnish the amounts required of them, he said.

Under the school foundation program, the state is to furnish $50.00 for each elementary pupil and $45 for each high school pupil, to be supplemented by local funds at least to a level where $45 is available for each elementary pupil and $47.50 is available for each high school pupil.

It also provides that the schools shall receive at least two-thirds of the average millage allowed them in the last five years. For the city schools, Supt. Hudson said, this is expected to be about 2.5 mills for operating purposes, or about $50,000 to $57,000 for the year.

He emphasized that in order to finance a school program even under the curtailments made in the last several years, it will be necessary for voters to renew the three-mill levy which will expire next Dec. 31.
